Garden Grove Man Weds
In Little Church of Flowers, Glendale

Much interest has been expressed in this community, in the marriage on Thursday, December 22, in the Little Church of the Flowers, Glendale, of Milton J. Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Reynolds, Garden Grove, and Miss Inez Lester of Los Angeles, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Lester, Chickasha, Okla.

Some 75 guests assembled in the beautiful little chapel for the wedding rites, conducted by Judge Frank C. Collier at 8:30 o'clock. The musical program included in addition to traditional wedding marches of Wagner and Mendelssohn, "Melody in F," "Liebestraum" and "At Dawning," with Emile Wendel at the organ.

Miss Lester, charming in a smart frock of gray rough wool trimmed in gray fox fur with close fitting little hat to match, carried Briarcliff roses and gardenias. She was attended by Miss Irene Stalker as bridesmaid, dressed in hyacinth blue wool frock and blue hat, and wearing Tullman roses and orchid sweet peas. Charles S. Reynolds, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

A reception following the rites, was brief, as the new Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds took an immediate departure for Lake Norcorian club where they are spending their honeymoon. They will make their first trip to Los Angeles after the first of the year. Mrs. Reynolds is a graduate of Colorado State College, and an affiliate of Sigma Sigma Sorority. She has been teaching in Beverly Vista school, Los Angeles.

Girl Scouts Work to Complete Holiday Activities

Girl Scouts of the city have turned their headquarters on Richmond avenue into a veritable Santa Claus workshop, renovating toys, making dresses and aprons and fashioning other articles of necessity and luxury for one particular family of the community. The past two days have been devoted to completing the numerous gifts, and packing the groceries and staples which are to be delivered very soon.

With 40 girls of the troop working diligently preparing gifts for a family of five, it can well be imagined what a happy Christmas they are making possible for their proteges, today stated Mrs. R. R. Ruppick, advisor of the Girl Scouts.

The girls plan to visit the home tonight singing Christmas carols.

Regular Meeting
At a recent meeting of the Scouts held in their headquarters, several visitors were in attendance. They included Mrs. Fred Hill and Mrs. Ned M. Clinton, who are organizing a troop in Westminster; Miss Florence Schultz, who provided a candy treat for the local Scouts; and Mrs. Gabriel A. Luz, who is to be leader of a Girl Scout troop to be organized among students of St. Joseph's parochial school the first of the year.

In Harris Home

Dorothy Tedford, Irene Noble and Jean Russick, together with Mrs. Russick, met in the home of Mrs. Richard Harris, North Main street, recently to assist in making plans for organizing a new troop of Girl Scouts. The nucleus of the new troop was present, including Evelyn Witt, Helen Allison, Jacqueline Bradford, Florence Robinson and May Robinson. Mrs. Robinson also was present. Mrs. Harris is to be leader of the troop.

Joan Russick and Irene Noble wore their uniforms so that the other girls could get some idea as to what their costumes will be like.

Meeting Plans

Mrs. Russick's troop of girls have plans made for two affairs this coming week, including a supper party on an evening to be named later. Charlotte Mock is to plan the menu, which will be provided for out of the Scout treasury. This is to take the place of a regular meeting. The high school expects to go on an all day hike to Silverado canyon one day Christmas week.

Three-Day Festivity
Assured Santa Ana
Merrymakers

With the immediate Christmas celebration period extending virtually over three days, Santa Ana was divided this week end as to actual date of observance, although the great majority of family feasts are scheduled for Christmas day proper. Tree festivities and gift distributions will begin tonight with Christmas eve and continue through tomorrow and Monday. While less elaborate in scope than in past seasons, this year's Yuletide promises no less merrymaking than on previous occasions, and Santa Ana households are crowded this week end with family parties, out-of-town guests and friends, reunited after long absences.

Two McFadden Parties

Among families signaling the Yuletide day of feasting with the Christmas feasts will be the McFadden group, meeting tomorrow as guests of Mrs. John McFadden, 906 North Main street. A dinner is planned for Sunday, but Christmas tree festivities will be postponed until Monday, when a second gathering is anticipated. Mrs. John McFadden will receive as hostess Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McFadden and son, Monte; Mr. and Mrs. E. T. McFadden and children, Janet, Barbara and Tommy; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Worden and son, Billy; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Walker and son, Weston; Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Walker and children, Evelyn, Hugh, Mary Lee and Cecil; Miss Mabel McFadden and Miss Ada McFadden.

Neffs Celebrate Tonight

A Christmas Eve celebration is scheduled to take place tonight in the Nat H. Neff residence, 422 West Santa Clara avenue, where a score of relatives and friends will pass a merry evening about their Christmas tree. Tomorrow the entire group will motor to Glendale for a second reunion and a Christmas dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Duff Dean of Glendale. Scheduled to join in tonight's merriment are the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Neff, and their three daughters, Betty, Natalie and Barbara; Mr. and Mrs. Barry McPhee and children, Shirley, Joy and Barry; Mr. L. H. Neff, all of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Dennis, Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Duff Dean and son, Wallace, Glendale; and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Couch and children, Marjorie and Raymond, of Long Beach.

Tutthill Dinners

Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Tutthill will have as Christmas dinner guests tomorrow a party of relatives which will include Mrs. Tutthill's mother, Mrs. Katherine Marguerite and Louise Daugherty, all of Hollywood; and the Tutthill two daughters, Roberta and Martha Tutthill, Miss Mary Tutthill, a third daughter, now a student in St. Mary's College at Notre Dame, will enjoy her Christmas as a guest in a friend's home in Chicago, according to word sent her parents.

Anderson, McBurneys, Smileys

Another Christmas eve party tonight will be held in the home of Mrs. Margaret Anderson, who has invited to a buffet supper Mr. and Mrs. Will McBurney and children, Jane, Ruth and Will Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Beall and children, Solon, David and Mac; Mr. and Mrs. D. P. McBurney and daughter, Miss Alva Rose of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Dean S. Leary and sons, Bobby, Dean and Jimmy; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Lund, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McBurney and children, Jean, Roberta and Chelena; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Smiley and sons, David and Roderick; F. E. McBurney, Mrs. Jennie Anderson, Mrs. Zetta Cash and children, Sam and Vera, all of Santa Ana; Miss Mary Cash, home from Los Angeles for the week end; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lutz, Anaheim, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wharton and son, Jimmy, Brea.

Roper Dinner

Christmas festivity in the Park S. Roper home at 807 Spurgeon street will take the form of a Sunday feast to be shared by Mr. and Mrs. Roper, Mr. and Mrs. A. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Roper, Mrs. Ethel Sinke and Mrs. George Menges.

Lebard (formerly Miss Lois Sweet) comes the honor of acting as general dance chairman in all plans relating to the function, given annually as a benefit, Mrs. Lebard, a graduate of University of California at Los Angeles, is a member of Phi Omega Pi, a national sorority. Since her affiliation with the Panhellenic society she has filled various positions including that of secretary, treasurer and president. Other interests of the organization, other than dancing, include Eastern Star, with an office in the Hermosa chapter, and Santa Ana Community Play-ers' association. In addition to working at The Barn, she took part in the major production of "Mr. Pim Passes By," one of the successful plays of two seasons ago. Mr. and Mrs. Lebard have a young son, Master Harry Lebard, not yet three years old.

MRS. ARTHUR GILLESPIE

Although they are spending the holidays with relatives in this community, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gillespie plan to go to housekeeping after the first of the year in Huntington Beach. Mrs. Gillespie was formerly Miss Edna Cheney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cheney, 819 South Broadway. Mrs. Gillespie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Gillespie, Huntington Beach. Their wedding took place in Yuma on November 28.

Mrs. Hannah Hornes residence at 1339 North Gannsey street will house a family Yuletide assembly which will include Mrs. Hornes, Miss Henrietta Hornes, Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Hornes and infant daughter, Perdita; Mrs. N. McKinley and Miss Phyllis McKinley of Los Angeles; and Mrs. Marie Barker and Mrs. Mary Hunter of Long Beach.

Tarver Gathering

Covers at the Ben E. Tarver home, 2510 Valencia street, will be placed tomorrow for the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Tarver; their daughter, Miss Anne Tarver; two sons, Bruce Tarver, home from Stanford University, and Ben Tarver; Tevis Westgate of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Ashby Turner of Fullerton, formerly of Santa Ana.

Gribaros Entertainment

Invited to the Richard F. Gribaros home, 439 South Sycamore street, tomorrow noon are Messrs. and Mesdames G. E. Bruns, parents of the hosts; the Bruns' son, Plummer Bruns, Mrs. Bruns and their daughter, Virginia Belle; and Miss Nellie Elizabeth Bruns, daughter of the home. An elaborate Christmas table is being laid for the occasion.

Family Observance

From Descanso arrived into this afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Stephenson and the young people of their home, to spend a joyous family Christmas eve with Mr. and Mrs. Edmund West, 223 South Gannsey street. Mrs. West was formerly Miss Louise Stephenson.

To the efforts of Mr. Stephenson in braving the deep snows of the San Diego mountains, were due the lovely evergreen decorations of the home, for he had sent his daughter great branches of spruce and many silver fir trees including the large one with its lights and gay bangles, and tiny ones suited for table decorations. Dinner tonight promises to be a lively affair for which covers will be laid for the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. West, and for Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson, their eldest son James, who recently returned from Montana; and a quartet of his younger brothers, "Bill," Eric, Martin and Gene, all of Descanso; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cooley (Mrs. Cooley was Miss Elizabeth Stephenson) of Alpine, and Miss Gladys Dawson of San Diego, a teacher in the Descanso schools.

All the young people were to return tonight to Descanso but Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson will remain until tomorrow in their daughters home, and to have a brief Christmas visit with their brother, Terry E. Stephenson, recovering from a recent operation in St. Joseph's hospital.

Earlier Hospitality

Among the holiday events finding setting in the West home, an especially pleasant one was the meeting of the dinner dessert bridge club of which Mrs. West is a member. The same charming decorations prevailed, and the combination of silvered trees with bright red ornaments, and the Bohemian red glass of the dinner service, made the small tables most effective when the Christmas dessert was served immediately after arrival of the guests.

Miss Nan Mead scored high in contract, and received an extra Christmas gift as reward, although everyone present enjoyed a special package for the evening silver tur, in observing the annual club exchange. Then Mrs. West had an additional surprise in a small silver fir for each of her guests whose needs in Christmas trees had not yet been fulfilled. Sharing this pleasant celebration of the season with the hosts were Mrs. Fred Rowland, who leads the group in the "gentle art" of contract; Mrs. Robert S. Wade, Mrs. Russell Wilson, Mrs. Albert Harvey, Mrs. Lloyd Shearer, Mrs. Bernard, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Gene Ferguson, the Misses Nan and Lolita Mead and their house guest, Miss Karen Cooper of Los Angeles, Miss Boyd Joplin, and Miss Enid Twist.

Sons and Daughters
Join in Holiday
Dinner

Although the party enjoyed by Sons and Daughters of Union Civil War veterans and their families was a mid-week affair, all the significance and charm of a real old-fashioned Christmas Eve were embodied in the celebration which attracted so large a group to the Knights of Pythias hall.

Christmas while guests gathered for the dinner served to precede the program. Daughters were in charge of dining room arrangements, with Mrs. Edith B. Moore and her assistant, Minnie McClure presiding. Seasonal decorations included a miniature Christmas tree, poinsettias, etc.

In the large room where the program was given following a large decorated tree loaned for the occasion by Ernest L. Kellogg post and auxiliary, contributed a holiday setting. Candy and gifts for all were distributed by Santa Claus, portrayed by Clyde Dunn of Orange. Miss Bertha Belt and D. L. Davis were his assistants.

Sons were in charge of the program, with C. F. Millen as chairman and Joe R. Moore as his assistant. J. F. Burke was speaker of the evening, reminiscing of old-time Christmas celebrations in the past.

Miss La Verne Harrell was piano accompanist for community singing of such numbers as "Jingle Bells," "Silent Night," etc. The Mustel trio gave a series of Christmas songs, also "The Rosary" and others. Miss Fern Hill read "The Night After Christmas." The remainder of the evening was spent socially, expressing the season's greetings.

Holiday Cheer Reigns
At Register Staff
Dinner Party

Hospitality expressed in Christmas terms of wreathed evergreens, a sparkling tree, and the good cheer of friends gathered in intimate groups for the enjoyment of a Yuletide feast, characterized the dinner with which Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Burke last night entertained members of the staff of The Register in their hilltop home on Panamora Heights.

There were over half a hundred guests assembled for the evening, whose initial feature was the serving of the turkey dinner. For this feature, Mr. and Mrs. Burke were assisted by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Loyal K. King; their son, Franklin Burke and by Jack Fredericks. A buffet table, centered with a snowy tree and tall red candles, was used for serving, and guests matched their service plates with the appointments at the different tables spread in drawing room and library. These tables in turn were lighted by tall candles as red as the holly berries in the wreaths from which they rose.

During the merriment succeeding the dinner hour, amusing gifts from the Christmas tree fell to the lot of everyone present. These gifts will carry a double purpose, for today they will go on their mission of cheer, to little children in less fortunate homes. An impromptu program was interwoven with the general gaiety of the evening, Mrs. Roscoe Conklin giving a clever child impersonation, Mrs. Paul Vissman and Kenneth Adams each adding piano numbers, and Mrs. Emmett Elliott and Frederick Elliott, contributing a skit.

All phases of the evening lost in interest, however, in comparison with the appearance of tiny Miss Moya Kleitzi King, who gazed wide-eyed but unfrightened, upon her first Christmas tree, and a whole court of loyal subjects over whom she reigned.

December Newlyweds
Establish Home in Buena Park

Pleasantly located at 425 West-avenue, Buena Park, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lautenbach are welcoming their many friends during a happy holiday season, brightened by recollections of the early December wedding of the young people. Mrs. Lautenbach was Miss Ann Jansma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Jansma of the Pauline community south of Santa Ana. Her marriage to the young Buena Park business man took place on December 4 in the Dutch Christian Reformed church, Belflower. It was a very charming ceremony for which the bride was beautifully gowned in white satin and lace, with a tulle veil draped from a chaplet of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses, gardenias and white sweet peas.

Miss Alyce Koen, her honor maid, wore eggshell rough crepe and carried pale pink sweet peas, as did Miss Ann Dykstra, bridesmaid. Lautenbach served as best man, wearing eggshell satin. Henry and August Jansma and A. Martin were ushers.

Following the reception, the new Mr. and Mrs. Lautenbach received the good wishes of their wedding guests at an informal reception in their own pretty new home in Buena Park, where interest was added by the display of beautiful wedding gifts, an enjoyable musical program and the serving of light refreshments.

Guests invited to the nuptials and the reception which followed, included the bride's parents and brother, Mr. and Mrs. J. Jansma, and August Jansma of this community, and the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Lautenbach of Artesia; together with Mr. and Mrs. E. Lautenbach and Mr. and Mrs. Sumartin, Norwalk; Henry Lautenbach, C. Jansma, Artesia; Mr. and Mrs. Keen and Miss Alyce Koen, Baldwin Park; Mrs. S. Dykstra, Miss Ann Dykstra, Mr. and Mrs. J. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. H. Homer, El Monte; Mrs. A. Jansma, Talbert; Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph, Mrs. D. Holmes, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Scheffer, Miss Ann Scheffer, Miss Henrietta Scheffer.

Surprise Party Plans Successfully Put Into Effect

When Mrs. Thomas Atken of Fullerton, and Mrs. Agnes Wimbush of this city, called early Thursday afternoon at the home of their sister, Mrs. Grace Shippe, 638 North Van Ness avenue, they declared that since they had come for a birthday visit, and they felt that Mrs. Shippe's house took, pretty though it might be, was not sufficient for the natal day occasion. Mrs. Shippe agreed to the point that she at once donned a smart afternoon gown of bright printed crepe, never suspecting that she was in reality, dressing for quite a formal party.

But officers of Santa Ana chapter O. E. S., aware of it being the birthday date of their newly installed worthy matron, had conspired to celebrate it most delightfully, with Mrs. B. Lloyd Folger and Mrs. H. Glenn Lyman entrusted with general details of entertaining.

Shortly after 2 o'clock, guests began arriving in gay and informal little groups, each guest bearing birthday greetings for the surprised hostess in the form of cards, flowers and gifts. Flowers were placed about the home, several unusually lovely clusters being reserved to brighten the tea table in tones of Raymond Spaulding, smartly gowned in black dull crepe sweeping her satin shod feet, and Mrs. Folger, wearing a graceful black chiffon, also fashioned on long flowing lines, presided at the tea table behind handsome silver and pewter coffee and tea urns. Dainty little cakes were served also.

Of the array of gifts showered upon Mrs. Shippe, none was handsomer than the hand tooled leather bag in tones of gray, the gift of her fellow officers on the Santa Ana chapter staff.

Prominent among the guests was Mrs. Sherman Gilgley of Orange, deputy grand matron of District 7, who was accompanied also by the worthy matron of the Orange chapter, Mrs. Edward Chapman. Other friends calling between the hours of 2 and 4 o'clock, included Dr. and Mrs. C. T. Clarend, Mesdames Joe Herschler, Harry Roberts, Al. Adrain, Max Gowdy, Douglas Peddy, B. E. Dawson, Gene Helas, Beattie Rosson, William J. Dean, Ora Jennings, Elmer Smith, Lee Boyle, Larry Golden, Amanda Holmes, J. H. Northrop, Mary Howard, Thomas Overton, Caroline Good, Clara Mecham, Walter Wright, Estella McFarren, Gertrude Waldron, Charles J. Lea, Jack Willey, Charles Ryan, Roland Kloss, William J. Vanaken, Ann Hoffmann, Effie Neuschwaner, Charles Mattern, the Misses Josephine Good and Lorena Shippe, Mrs. B. Lloyd Folger and Mrs. H. Glenn Lyman, and the two sisters of the birthday honoree, Mrs. Wimbush and Mrs. Atken.

Just in the Misses Anna and Ethel Jensen, Fullerton; Mrs. H. Jansma, Mr. and Mrs. D. Jansma, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard De Hoog, J. De Hoog, Miss Esther Jamieson, Mrs. E. E. Jamieson, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Jamieson, T. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. N. Hughes, Mrs. S. Blaisman, Mrs. O. Woodruff, Mrs. S. H. Thwaiter, Mr. and Mrs. T. Baker, Mrs. N. Clayton, Miss E. Groover, Mrs. R. Lanterman, Messrs. H. Clayton, M. R. Groover and J. Scheffer, Santa Ana, and others from various southland cities.

Concludes Series

Concluding a six weeks' series of meetings, members of the Parliamentary Law class met this week in the Y. M. C. A., making plans to resume activities sometime in February. A discussion on the committee of the whole took place.

It was brought out that in the committee of the whole, action is limited to adoption, amendment, appeal and rise and report.

The group expressed a vote of thanks to Mrs. Roy S. Horton, who has so expertly conducted activities of the group as leader. Members are hoping that she will continue as leader when the new series of meetings begin.

One of the largest crowds to attend an Odd Fellow-Rebekah Christmas party, numbering well over 200, packed the I. O. O. F. hall Thursday night to join in festivities which have become an annual highlight of the lodge calendar.

Against a background spectacular with its painted mountain scenery and a large evergreen brilliantly ornamented, a program of carols, dancing and recitations was presented, before Santa Claus, impersonated as in past years by George Stevill, arrived via chimney to pass out his gifts.

Entertainment numbers preceding this feature included carols by the Treble Clef trio, the Misses Edna Biehan, Lorene Harrison and Blanche Owens; a tap dance by Miss Betty Blossom Gohl, accompanied by her sister, Miss Celestine Gohl; a reading, "A Visit From St. Nicholas," by Miss Charlotte Quigley, and a skit, climaxed by the appearance of the Yule Saint. The skit's cast included Mrs. Edna Gowan, Milton Cooper, La Verne Stevill and Eleanor Doyle.

Committee members lending assistance were John Crawford as chairman, Miss Beattie Porter, Coker Rathbone, Joe Prevost, Mesdames Therese Dunning, Adeline Harrell, Beattie McDonald and Mollie Ballard.

Parent-Teachers

Pauline Contributes
Boxes filled to the brim with gifts of food donated by women of the Pauline P. T. A., will be apportioned to deserving families Christmas Day under the supervision of Mrs. Harry Dady, president, school officials have announced.

The provisions were brought to the P. T. A. Christmas program, held in the school auditorium and presented by the school children, directed by Mrs. Mary Emerson, principal. An original play, "A Merry Christmas," readings and community singing comprised the entertainment. Each child received a popcorn ball, candy and an apple during the afternoon. A sum of $14 was realized from the sale of a quilt and two pillows.

Church Societies

Methodist Church
A Christmas program was enjoyed this week by members of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the First Methodist church, who held their meeting in the women's parlor.

Miss Marjorie Lusk read an original story, "A Giving Christmas," after which Mrs. Hazel Maxwell read Tolstoy's story, "Where Love Is, God Is." Musical features were violin solos by Mrs. John Matthews; songs by Miss Dorothy Bernard and instrumental numbers by the Misses Margaret Davies and Helen Holmes.

During a short business meeting, members decided to entertain the San Diego District Standard Bearers rally sometime during January. For the occasion, the room was decorated with Christmas—tree, poinsettias and other holiday appointments.

ANN MEREDITH'S

MIXING BOWL

Constipation does more to slow up existence than all the depression put together.

The victim of this universal complaint gets up "on the wrong side of the bed" seven days out of the week. His skies are always cloudy, his temper on edge, and his family walks softly until the day is well advanced. What a waste of energy and happiness!

Constipation can be corrected in time through eating correctly. Most people do not drink enough water. Take yourself for instance: do you drink a glass of water after you brush your teeth? Ten to one you don't. That glass of water does to your stomach just what the tooth brush does to your teeth.

Do you eat slowly, or do you bolt your food, and eat twice as much as you should through the habit of bolting?

Are you given to fried food, sweets and rich desserts, or are you sensible and let fruit replace rich desserts in most instances?

Are you a vegetable hater? Don't be, for vegetables supply vital mineral elements and the soft bulky roughage the intestine needs to help correct this habit of constipation.

Cut out cathartics right at the start—they help only for the moment to do incalculable harm. Peristaltic action can be stimulated through the gas formation of such foods as molasses and honey (eat on cereals) spinach, onions, cauliflower and beans (dried).

TODAY'S RECIPE

Pecan Nut Bread
2 cups graham flour
1 cup cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2-3 cup brown sugar
2 cups butter (melted)
1 slightly rounded teaspoon soda
1 cup chopped pecan meats
This quick bread is one of the things you should eat if constipation afflicts you. The brown sugar forms gas, and the graham flour supplies the soft roughage.

Do not sift the graham flour, just measure it into the mixing bowl and add the white flour, sifted with baking powder and salt, to it. Scoop the sugar into the flour and stir well with a fork.

Foam the sour milk with the soda and use to mix the bread.

Day Nursery Children
Frolic as Guests of Ebbl Society

Junior and Girls Ebbl societies joined with the general Ebbl club in fostering the latter's tradition of an annual Christmas party for the tots of the Santa Ana Day Nursery, when representatives of the three organizations united yesterday in the presentation of a pre-Christmas affair in the Day Nursery rooms. Twenty-eight youngsters shared the fun.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Lena G. Hewitt, chairman of the Senior Ebbl committee, who assumed the bulk of the party's responsibility and was credited for much of its success, committees arranged an entertainment which included everything from a Christmas tree, toys, candy and fruits, to a puppet show and a story hour.

The puppet skit, entitled "The Moon for a Prince," was put on by Miss Mary Bowyer and Miss Leone Baxter, Miss Bowyer delighting the youngsters by prolonging the fun for another quarter of an hour with a Christmas tale.

A gaily costumed Santa Claus, impersonated for an afternoon by Robert Speed, arrived to captivate the tots and to shower them with toys of all varieties. Presiding over the party, in the children's behalf, were the two matrons of the Nursery, Mrs. W. Flockton and Mrs. George Jarrett.

Various features of the annual entertainment were contributed as follows: Ebbl Day Nursery committee; Mrs. Lena G. Hewitt, chairman; and Mesdames F. E. Farnsworth, oranges; J. E. Liebig, apples; C. V. Newman, W. D. Ranney, Clarence Skiles and Miss Margaret Ore, toys; Junior Ebbl committee, Miss Eleanor Crookshank, Mrs. John Taylor, Miss Virginia Berry, candy canes; Girls Ebbl society, tree.

Business College Has
Christmas Dinner
And Dance

Seventy students and faculty members of the Orange County Business college observed the holiday season in fitting manner this week, taking part in a turkey dinner in the Y. W. C. A. rooms. This was an annual event in the school activities.

Attractively decorated with holly and poinsettias, the rooms made an effective setting for the party. Miss Doris Little, mistress of ceremonies, introduced those appearing on the program. Joe Weber, president of the student body, gave a short talk; Miss Marian Graef, accompanied by Miss Pauline Graef, sang "When You're Away," "Love Everlasting" and "Mon Cœur."

Curtis Garret played a piano solo, "Star Dust." Freddie Dawson contributed a guitar feature, "Sweet Sue." Miss Doris Inge accompanied by Miss Madeline Seavy, sang, "Shanty in Old Shanty Town." Miss Loraine Seavy gave a tap dance.

Vocal numbers, "Birthday of a King" and "Noel" were sung by Holland Whittington, accompanied by Halstead McCormack, J. W. McCormack, president of the school, followed with a short talk.

Later in the evening, guests adjourned to the lounge, where Santa Claus appeared to distribute gifts from a large Christmas tree.

Carlton Smith and his orchestra furnished music for dancing. Doris Little sang several popular numbers with orchestral accompaniment.

YOU and Your Friends

Miss Helen Slabaugh, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh of 407 West Santa Clara avenue, has just returned from Bakerfield, where she has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Earl P. Hoisington Jr., Mrs. Hoisington, who has been confined with illness, was reported able to sit up today, but was unable to come south for Christmas. The Hoisingtons may arrive for a New Year's celebration in Santa Ana, however. Miss Slabaugh, a junior at the University of Southern California, will spend the holidays with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Warren arrived yesterday to spend the holiday week with Mr. Warren's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Warren, 814 North Parton street. Mr. Warren formerly was chief probation officer of Orange county and at present is teaching at Preston State School for Boys at Jone. Other guests in the Santa Ana home Christmas Day will be a second son, W. H. Warren, Mrs. Warren and their daughter, Mildred Jean, of Inglewood.

Miss Karen Cooper of Los Angeles, who has been visiting the Misses Nan and Lolita Mead, 2119 North Main street, for the past several days, returned home yesterday.

Miss Betty Barkman, 2361 Riverside drive, has had as her houseguest this week Miss Jean Bodley of Alhambra, who departed for her home today.

Mrs. O. R. Matthews, 1402-1-2 North Main street, will have as guests Christmas Day her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Hancock of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lepper, 2208 Maple avenue, plan to spend Christmas Day as guests of Mr. Lepper's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lepper, at Rancho Santa Fe.

Mrs. J. Fred Reyer has been entertaining in her home at 2324 North Broadway, Mrs. Florence Madden of Hollywood, who has returned to that city after a visit of several days here.

Crawford Nalle, student at Pomona college, Claremont, has returned home to spend Christmas vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Nalle, 814 South Birch street. Mrs. Jennie Crawford, who is wintering in Claremont, also is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Nalle.

Dr. and Mrs. William Maboe are spending a busy holiday period establishing residence in their new home at 2415 Riverside drive, formerly occupied by the Reeves Aylmore family. Maboe has just returned from Chicago, where she has spent the past six weeks.

Benton Van Dien and Jack Preston of this city are leaving to spend the holidays in the Boy Scout camp located near Big Bear valley.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Patterson of Newport road will be Christmas day guests of Mrs. Alice Whitaker of Fullerton.

Mrs. W. J. Robbins, 500 South Pacific avenue, has been entertaining for the past 10 days, her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Baker of Portland, Ore. Mr. and Mrs. Baker will spend Christmas day in Los Angeles, returning to the Robbins home for a second visit which probably will extend beyond the first of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Nat H. Neff, 422 West Santa Clara avenue, have as Christmas day guests Mr. and Mrs. Harold Davis and sons, Hal and Warner Davis and Dennis Davis, all of Santa Barbara. Mr. Davis is coach at Santa Barbara Teachers' college. The Davises have been visiting Mrs. Davis' mother, Mrs. W. B. Dennis, in Orange.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Rutherford and daughter Carolyn, of Huron, Ariz., are spending the Christmas holidays with Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Day, 1047 West Third street. They plan to remain in Southern California until after the New Year's day game. Mr. Rutherford is a cousin of Mrs. Day.

"XMAS SMILE"
FEATURED ON
KREG PROGRAM

Two hours and a half of tonight's schedule on KREG will be devoted to "Christmas Smiles" broadcasts, especially dedicated to the "Christmas Smiles for Forty Miles" between Long Beach and San Clemente on the Orange county Coast highway. The first broadcast at 7 o'clock tonight will present again the Epworth League chorus of the Mexican Methodist Episcopal church, of which Rev. E. E. Garcia is pastor. The chorus is directed by Mrs. B. E. Garcia, assisted by Mrs. Marie Fowler who also accompanies the group. Their first program of Christmas carols was broadcast last night between 7 and 7:30.

The second Christmas Smiles broadcast tonight will begin at 7:30 and will comprise a selected group of songs and melodies, elegantly recorded, and include several popular as well as light classical selections, such as "La Rosita," "Four Indian Love Lyrics," "Pale Moon," "Gems from the Vagabond King," and others. The Revelers, the Colonial club orchestra, and the National Cavaliers will offer the selections.

Following the above and starting at 8 o'clock, another Christmas Smiles broadcast will feature the Little Church of the Wildwood choir, directed by Mrs. U. E. Harding. This group was heard last Thursday night in a delightful program and it represents the morning daily broadcast of the church on KREG at 9 a. m., etc.

The concluding Christmas Smiles broadcast will be given by Kaik's Hawaiians, from 10 to 11 p. m., with a special program of carols.

NEW FEATURE ON
PROGRAM FOR KREG

Starting Monday at 12:15 p. m. announcing the "Purador" will be scheduled daily. Their broadcasts are being sponsored by the West Coast Purador company, manufacturers of a practical and novel box odor absorber.

The opening presentation will be devoted mainly to introducing a new product and announcing a special free offer to women of Orange county. The "Purador" is distributed in Orange county by C. Reenders. Special music will also be presented in addition to the announcements.

KREG NOTES

An hour's broadcast by the Foreign Missions group from 10 to 11 a. m. will be featured Monday morning over KREG featuring the Doffender Sisters from Long Beach. Rev. Frank S. Lindgren, pastor of Calvary church, will speak on "What Does Christmas Mean to You?" and there will be other short talks on Christmas in foreign lands.

KREG will go on the air a half-hour earlier Sunday morning with a special broadcast by direct wire from the First Methodist church. The Rev. Dr. George A. Warner will deliver a special Christmas message for shut-ins at that time.

An exclusive popular program, featuring well known hits of the day will be presented at 6:45 p. m. tonight by the Producers Market of Santa Ana.

The distinguished young Russian conductor, Issay Dobrowen, will conclude his four weeks engagement as guest conductor of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony orchestra directing the concert to be broadcast over the Columbia network including KHJ from 12 until 2 p. m. tomorrow. Egon Petri, celebrated Dutch pianist, will be heard for the second consecutive week as soloist. The Russian conductor will be succeeded at the baton for the Philharmonic orchestra by Bruno Walter, renowned German maestro, who will direct the broadcasts for the next nine weeks.

Special Christmas sermons and religious music appropriate for the greatest of all Christmas feast days are scheduled for the regular Sunday religious programs led by noted clergymen on NBC networks. "Glad Tidings—Great Joy" is listed for Dr. Daniel A. Polling, KFSD, 1:30 p. m., and "Christmas Peace" is the subject chosen by Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, KFI and KFSD, 12:30 p. m.

Armand Tokatyan, tenor of the Metropolitan Opera company, will be heard in a 30-minute recital over a coast-to-coast NBC network including KFSD beginning at 3:45 p. m. tomorrow. He will be accompanied by a special orchestra.

with Miguel Sandoval at the piano. Tokatyan has been a leading tenor at the Metropolitan for the past ten years.

A series of four Sunday night programs featuring Edna St. Vincent Millay, one of America's most distinguished writers of verse, and a nation-wide NBC network including KFSD, between 7 and 7:15 p. m. tomorrow. During the series Miss Millay will include such favorites as "The Harp Weaver" and many of her matchless sonnets. The four broadcasts will be her only public appearances in the United States this winter.

The General Electric Sunday Circle concerts, featuring famous stars of the Metropolitan Opera company and other great singers, will return to the air over a coast-to-coast network of the National Broadcasting company, including KFI tomorrow night at 6:15 o'clock. Rosa Ponselle, celebrated dramatic soprano, will inaugurate the resumption of the series. For her Christmas night concert Miss Ponselle has chosen traditional Yuletide songs and selections associated with the season.

David Lawrence, who has been speaking on governmental affairs over National Broadcasting company networks for more than five years, will change the time of his weekly broadcast beginning tomorrow, so as to accommodate requests from the Pacific coast. From that day on Lawrence will be heard each Sunday over an NBC coast-to-coast network including KFSD, at 7:15 p. m. The program time also will be changed—from "Our Government" to "Current Government." Lawrence explained the change by saying that whereas he previously had dealt with functions and processes, he now will devote himself to explanations of the nation's immediate problems.

On Christmas evening, from 7:30 to 8 o'clock, a chorus and orchestra directed by Channon Collinge, will present Saint-Saens' Christmas Oratorio over the Columbia network, including KFRC, San Francisco, and KILZ, Denver.

Angelo Patri will discuss the essential realities of Christmas spirit when he speaks on the subject, "Christmas Is True," for his talk on "Your Child" over the Columbia network including KHJ on Christmas night at 8:15 o'clock.

The "Christmas" Oratorio, by Johann Sebastian Bach, treating the birth of Christ in narrative and reflective movements, will be presented by the National Oratorio Society, Cosare Sodero conducting, Monday, December 26, at 8:30 a. m. over an NBC transcontinental network including KECA and KFSD, which was composed in 1734, was designed for performance on six days, the first, second and third days of the Festival of Christmas on New Year's Day, the Sunday after, and on the Festival of the Epiphany.

Frank A. Vanderlip, banker and economist, will tell of the accomplishments of the Home Mortgage Advisory board in extending aid to property owners when he speaks over a National Broadcasting company network, including KECA and KFSD on Monday, December 26, at 10:30 a. m. P. S. T. Mr. Vanderlip's talk, "A Message of Hope to the Homeowner," will be broadcast at 10:30 a. m. P. S. T.

A holiday variety show of music, songs and settings featuring Jackie Heller, Marion and Jim Jordan, the Morin Sisters, the Songfellows and a 14-piece orchestra will be heard during the broadcast of the Toy Town Revue from the Chicago studios, Monday, December 26, at 8:30 a. m. KECA and KFSD will release the program.

Ernestine Schuman-Heink, beloved opera and concert contralto, will be the guest soloist during a Christmas program which will be broadcast over a coast-to-coast NBC network, including KFI and KFSD, at 6 o'clock tonight. The yuletide music will be interrupted at approximately 6:30 for a 10-minute talk by Arthur Brisbane, newspaper columnist and editor, speaking from Miami, Fla. He will be introduced by Merliah Aylesworth, President of NBC.

Charles Dickens' immortal "Christmas Carol" will be broadcast for the fourth consecutive Christmas eve over the Columbia Broadcasting system, including KHJ from 7 to 8 o'clock tonight.

A modern Christmas program, designated as "Dancing Christmas Memories," will be presented by Morton Dawney and Freddie Rich's orchestra between 8 and 9 o'clock tonight over the Columbia network, including KHJ.

"The Toy Maker" from the opera, "La Poupée" will be heard as part of a Christmas program over the NBC network, including KECA, at 8 o'clock tonight.

"The Student Prince," a delightful tale of romance in Old Heidelberg, set to music by Sigmund Romberg, is the choice of the Caswell Carollers for their Christmas Eve program over the NBC network including KFI from 8 to 8:15 o'clock tonight.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

GOD'S GIFT TO MAN

Text: Luke 2:8-20
The International Uniform Sunday School lesson for Dec. 25.
By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of The Congregationalist

Inevitably we contemplate Christmas in terms of giving. There is a stage in life, in childhood or even in youth, when Christmas and birthdays are thought of in terms of receiving, but as childhood develops into youth and youth develops into manhood and womanhood with the responsibilities of home and family life, one of the great and happy discoveries is that "it is more blessed to give than to receive."

Those who at one time may have been selfish in thinking of themselves become nobly unselfish in the sense of devotion to their children and the willingness to sacrifice for their children. Life takes on a new meaning of responsibility and giving.

It was through such an experience as this that Jesus taught the men and women of his day to understand the character and the heart of God. He appealed to the fathers who listened to him with the question whether they would give a stone to the son who asked for bread or a serpent to a child who asked for fish, and thus made very pointed his inquiry whether God would not be as gracious and as kind toward his children.

It is from this standpoint and in this spirit that we must contemplate God's gift to man. All that is good in ourselves, all that is loving, and all that is generous has its highest level, its source and its fullness, in God.

Christmas is, therefore, the day of our celebration of the giving of our best gifts. The New Testament represents God as pouring out the richness of his own love and his own life in the coming into the world of Jesus of Nazareth.

Here was a life that in every way encompassed the spirit of the giver. As it was through love that God gave Him to the world, so it was in the goodness and perfection of love that his life became manifest among men.

We think of Him as the Babe of Bethlehem, but we glorify his birth and his babyhood because of all that he was and all that he revealed in the fullness of his life on earth.

It was not by chance that he came into the home at Nazareth or that he was born of Mary. In the brief glimpses of her that we have in the New Testament we see a rare and pure soul fitted to be the medium of the divine life; her heart attuned to the music of devotion and the highest aspiration of Israel; her sense of contemplation of the new born babe lifted into a sublime sense of impending destiny through the child which she had borne.

If all mothers were as Mary, there would be more childlike devotion to the Master, there would be more manhood devoted to the same purposes to which he gave his life.

It is a beautiful picture of Mary that we have in our lesson, both the reluctant and puzzled by the remarkable events of which she found herself the center, but pondering in her heart all the sayings and manifestations that suggested the coming glory and achievement of her child.

Would Mary have had such courage could she have seen the end on the cross? One does not know, but we see her again in the glory of her strength and courage following her son to his final suffering and standing by the cross sharing his sufferings as he died for the world.

IMPRESSIVE CHRISTMAS MUSIC AND PROGRAMS TO BE GIVEN IN CHURCHES HERE TOMORROW

Appropriate and impressive musical programs will be presented tomorrow at churches in Santa Ana. Pastors of the various churches will deliver sermons in keeping with the spirit of the day.

In some of the churches the choir and special choruses will present the Christmas story in cantata form. In other of the churches elaborate pageants, with colorful costumes have been arranged with musical interpretations by specially trained choruses and the regular church choirs.

At the First Christian church two programs will be presented. At the regular service a special musical program under the direction of Frank Pierce and Mrs. R. S. Briggs, organist.

Soloists for the program will be Miss Elizabeth Morgan, soprano; Pierce, baritone; Miss Bonnie Hamilton, alto; and Charles Hill, tenor. R. S. Briggs, organist.

Included in the program for the morning service will be presentation of the Christmas cantata "Messiah's Advent" in which Mrs. Lisetta Epp of Los Angeles will sing an arrangement of "Oh Come Thou Faithful," assisted by the choir. Other solo numbers will include "The Infant Jesus," sung by Miss Morgan; "The Christ Child," sung by Pierce; and a quartet "The Birthday of the King," with Miss Morgan, Miss Hamilton, Hill and Pierce taking part.

At the evening service the Bible school will present a Christmas play "A Gift of Love," arranged and directed by Mrs. Albert Raymond. Music for the presentation will be a double quartet from the church choir including: Miss Morgan, and Mrs. Woodward, sopranos; Miss Hamilton and Mrs. Pierce, altos; Hill and

Walter E. Sigafos of Los Angeles, son of the pastor, will lecture on the Great Pyramid, "Does the Pyramid Prove the Bible, and What is Its Present Day Message?" LIFE STORY OF
FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELTBy
Leland M. Ross and Allan W. Grobin

(This intimate story of the life of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, beginning with the time his father took him as a 5-year-old to call on his close friend, Grover Cleveland, then President of the United States, carries the reader through an interesting history of the family farm estate at Hyde Park, N. Y., his school days at Groton, Harvard and Columbia Law School, and the development of his political career, which began with a New York state senate seat. Later, Roosevelt's life of struggle against the effects of infantile paralysis, and of the work of the Warm Springs Foundation, which he established in Georgia after deriving great benefits from the baths there, in 1925 he worked for the third time for the nomination of Alfred E. Smith as President, and then for his election. Although the national ticket was beaten, Roosevelt was elected governor of New York, running far ahead of the national ticket. He was re-elected in 1930 by a plurality of 725,000, the largest ever given to any candidate. During both terms he battled with a Republican-controlled legislature. The last installment described the start of Roosevelt's yearly tour of the state waterways in July, 1931.)

INSTALMENT 35.

Delegations board the yacht from time to time. There are short conferences. Then ahead again. F. D. at work on his papers. Pencil exploring the typed lines.

In the midst of the cheering and waving and conferring . . . is John Roosevelt, the governor's youngest son. Vacationing from Groton. Tall. Tanned. Stalwart. Friendly of eye. His mother's features.

The excitement and hubbub is all lost on him. He takes it as a matter of course. He and a school chum have weightier matters to discuss. Atop the forward compartments they lie naked from the waist up, sun-bathing.

"You think we could dive off here into the canal?"

"I don't know; we could off the old yacht."

"I'll bet we could off here, too."

"Maybe we'll try."

Luncheon is served. The passengers gather in the small salon forward. Cold meats, salad, sliced tomatoes, coffee.

F. D. and Mrs. Roosevelt face each other from opposite ends of the table. The others are arranged at the sides.

The governor eats with gusto. He talks of the new yacht.

"Great bargain, this boat. The state bought her when she was only two years old and paid one-third her original cost."

"Certainly much better than the old one." The gray-haired doctor seated to the right of Mrs. Roosevelt, is talking.

F. D. replies: "Yes, precisely."

The two boys are silent, eating with the businesslike manner of healthy youths to whom feeding is a serious matter.

The conversation shifts to the canal.

"There ought to be a ship canal from the Hudson to Lake Ontario. . . . Real ships from New York to Chicago. With the St. Lawrence waterway completed, it would be a wonderful thing. . . . a great triangle of transportation. We'll have it some day."

"Say, Pop . . ."

JOHN Roosevelt asks a question. F. D. pauses; answers in detail. And John returns to his absorbed eating. . . . Only a flash, but enough for a glimpse of that quiet warmth between father and son.

Mrs. Roosevelt serves maple sugar in generous squares after lunch. There is candied fruit.

"How have you managed your household problems?" one of the guests inquires.

"I never had a household problem," Mrs. Roosevelt flashes her smile. "I've had so much splendid assistance, you see."

The visitor looks doubtful.

"The only trouble I have is that I never know how many people are going to sit down to the table. I've had places laid for six. . . . and eighteen sat down 20 minutes later. That comes of being a governor's wife."

F. D. tells a story and laughs heartily. Presently he rises, disappears up the companionway on his way back to the after-deck and his chair near the rail. . . . There are more crowds anxious for a glimpse of him.

Mrs. Roosevelt goes below. John and his friend return to their sun-bathing.

Late in the afternoon, "the press" comes aboard from the old yacht. Mrs. Roosevelt greets them. She sits down on a robe spread on the deck near the bow. The conversation is informal.

"John's growing too fast. I don't know what to do with him. He's only fifteen and he's over six feet."

As they talk, the sun low in the sky, the trees in shadow across the canal and lays a shining blanket over the unshaded portions of water. It illuminates Mrs. Roosevelt's hair and lends even more warmth and light to her smile as she talks on. Her children . . . her furniture factory . . . her school teaching . . . the governor . . . the trip . . . her work as a reader of juveniles for a Literary Club.

The sun falls lower in the sky. The shadows deepen on the water. The green trees on the banks are gradually transformed into masses of black. After a while, buoy lights appear on the canal. The first lap of the voyage ends.

Tomorrow the governor will be busy. The Power Commissioners are to come aboard. There will be momentous discussions. . . . plans. . . . Today he has been at work, yes; but tomorrow he will be really busy.

In many ways that was a triumphal trip for Franklin D. Roosevelt. His hydro-electric power battle completely won, his power authority appointed according to the constitutional law, he was on his way to meet his commissioners and once more to inspect the site of the $171,000,000 project on the St. Lawrence. Behind him, like the wake of the yacht, stretched an impressive record of executive achievement, a record wrung from hostile Republican legislatures.

Behind him was a sound business administration. An administration in which twenty per cent increase in work had been accomplished without increasing the personnel. A larger program of public works had been launched, including twice as much road building as had ever been done before; at the same time all state taxes on real estate had been abolished and only a two-cent tax on gasoline added; yet the budgets had been kept balanced by a judicious use of veto power to keep appropriations within tax receipts.

Behind him lay a brilliant record of social welfare work, a record which included pensions for all needy persons over seventy years of age, the establishment of a hospital for crippled children, three new regional tuberculosis sanitariums and several new units for care and instruction of mentally deficient children. His prison and hospital plans when completed in 1935 promised to put the state far ahead of all others; with adequate and scientifically arranged quarters for every prisoner or patient the state would have at that time.

Behind him lay a tremendous enlargement of the park program started by ex-Governor Smith, involving the opening of parks and beaches in every part of the state.

Behind him lay years of strenuous work in which he had maintained a closer contact with the people and work of the state than any previous governor.

Behind him, stretching from that moment on the yacht back to the eventful days of 1910, lay a great many important public offices. And what strange quirks of destiny had led him into them. What an unusual attitude—especially for an age of political cynicism—he had entertained toward them!

"Public office should not be a money-making profession for any man; it should be public service and nothing more. Everyone should perform such work in whatever measure he is able; but not as a means of profit. Ideally, one should find sustenance in other ways—reserve money, income, another job."

Did he mean that such a man would be, like himself, beyond the reach of all temptation to be unfaithful to the people whom he served? And if so, what a strange chasm that viewpoint opened up between him and the "practical politicians" of his day!

Public office. One should not seek it. The office should seek the man. And as one glanced back over that record from 1910 to 1931 a startling fact suddenly came to mind.

Drafted for every office he ever held!

In 1910, prevailed upon to take a "hopeless" nomination; 1912 persuaded against his personal wish to run for re-election as state senator; 1913, appointed by President Wilson as Assistant Secretary of the Navy; 1920 nominated for the Vice-Presidency before he knew he was even being considered; 1928, drafted for governor by those dramatic appeals of Smith; 1930, so overwhelmingly the people's choice that any other candidate was unthinkable.

Small wonder, then, that the man believed in political destiny.

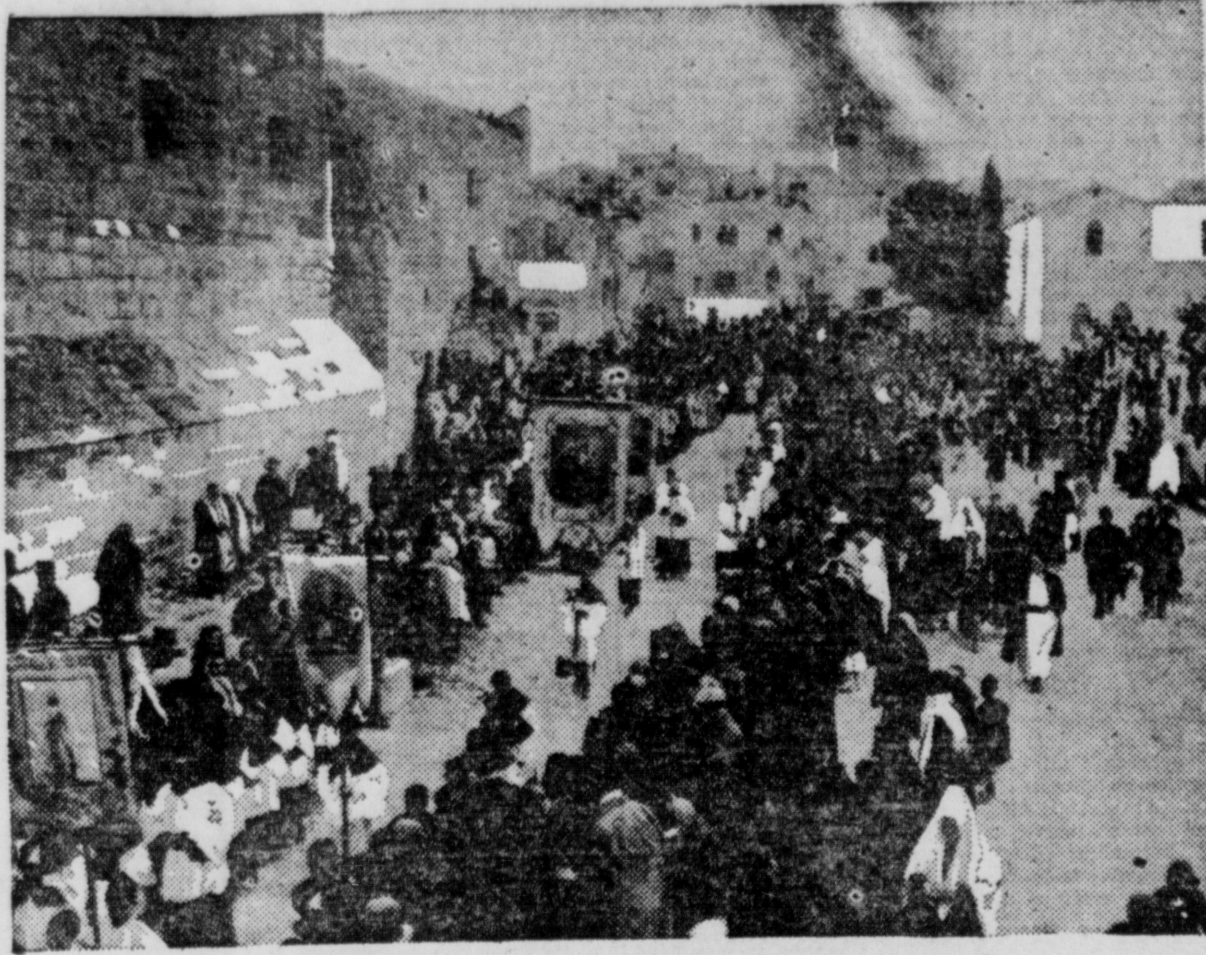

As Roosevelt sat by the rail on the after-deck of the state yacht, he must have realized how significant was the voyage he was making. Symbolic, perhaps. Prophetic of a political voyage on which he might soon be sent. The greatest voyage of his career.

Yet from the man who believed in destiny came no suggestion of what his views on national questions in 1931 or 1932 might be. And so strictly had he adhered to his position that while governor of New York he should not meddle with Federal affairs, that few men knew just where he might take his stand, except as had been indicated by his work within the state and upon the state's problems.

By previous public utterances, however, and through chance remarks on informal occasions, a few of his attitudes were fairly definitely known.

COME to CHURCH

In Palestine, Bethlehem—at every Christmastide is a procession such as this . . . approaching the Church of the Nativity, where Christ was born.

THE small child knows nothing of the world in which it must live nothing of the unhappiness which may some day beset it nothing of the daily problems which are part of every man's life. Give each little child the Faith which can carry it through joy or through suffering. Teach that child that in the Church is peace and sanctity, and you will be easing the path of life for that child whom you love. Bring your child to Church this Sunday.

THE TINYMITES

Old Santa's sleigh soon was packed high and Scouty said, "Oh, me, oh, my, that surely was a hurried job, but we have done it well."

"I think that everything's packed tight and thus the load should ride all right. I hope, when Santa wakes, he'll like the job. You ne'er can tell."

"Well come, let's wake him," Duncy said. "Perhaps he is a sleepy head, but we can't blame him. He's worked hard to get his toys all set."

"It won't be long till he must leave and frankly that will make me grieve. However, other kids are glad. Just think what they will get."

grand. I'll have an "easy trip." In half an hour the sun went down and Duncy, like a crazy clown, jumped up and down and shouted, "Hurry, now! You'll have to skip."

So Santa quickly climbed aboard and to the Tynmites loudly roared, "So long, my friends! Please wait for me. I'll be back by and by."

"A speedy trip. A good one, too," the Tynmites yelled. "Good luck to you!" And then the load of toys went sailing out across the sky.

(The Tynmites get a fine gift in the next story.)

Late News From Anaheim

CRIPPLED KIDS OF COUNTY ARE HONOR GUESTS

ANAHEIM, Dec. 24.—Sixty-five crippled children of Orange county were given their annual Christmas party yesterday afternoon in the Elks clubhouse where Santa Claus appeared with an enormous sack on his back containing presents for all the young guests. The hosts were the Crippled Children's Association of Orange county, and the Anaheim Den of Lions.

The children were brought to the clubhouse at 1:30 o'clock by members of the Lions club and taken into the lodge room where a fire in the fireplace burned brightly and there was a large, decorated and illuminated Christmas tree. It was from here that the gifts of toys, confectionery, trunks for the boys and woolly bathrobes for the girls were given out. Here also, about the fireplace, the refreshments of homemade candy, cookies and ice cream were served.

Downstairs, in the dining room, where pepper boughs and holly lent a festive air to the room, a program of music and readings was given for the enjoyment of the young guests. The student artists were from the Margaret J. Buttrick music studio and included Donald Mills, piano solo; Phyllis and Ethylene Sanford, tap dance; Gertrude Hunt, vocal solo and reading; and Duane Wilder, accompanied by Helen Pifer, chorist solo. Miss Evelyn Hilgenfeld gave a delightful Christmas reading. Committees working for the affair included Miss E. Kate Rea, chairman of the purchasing committee, Mrs. Tom Scott, Mrs. O. H. Renner and Miss Grace Bailey of Anaheim, program, and Mrs. E. D. White, Mrs. Earl S. Morrow, Mrs. Cood Adams, Mrs. George S. Briggs, all of Santa Ana, refreshments.

The Christmas tree was donated by the Fremont school, the trimmings by the Elks club and Santa Claus was M. E. Hebe.

BASKETS OF FOOD ARE SENT TO POOR

ANAHEIM, Dec. 24.—Baskets of food for the needy families of the city were sent out today according to Mrs. Mona Price, head of the city welfare department, and 200 families receiving their allotment of food. The baskets, containing a variety of foodstuffs, were distributed to the needy families by the city welfare department. The baskets were distributed to the needy families by the city welfare department. The baskets were distributed to the needy families by the city welfare department.

Plans have been completed for the dinner that will be given Monday night at 1 o'clock to the unemployed men of the city and to the transients. There will be approximately 100 men for the free dinner. Regular services will be held tomorrow and the Christmas party, program and tree for the children will be given Monday night in the headquarters on South Lemon street.

LUTHERAN SUNDAY SCHOOL AT PARTY

ANAHEIM, Dec. 24.—Concluding much preparation the Christmas program of the Lutheran school will be given tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Grace Lutheran church on South Palm street. The public is cordially invited to attend.

The program will be opened with a prelude by the orchestra and followed by a scripture reading and prayer. The entire Sunday school will then sing, "Come All Ye Faithful." The first part of the program will be numbers by the various classes and the second part will be the presentation of the program, "The Bethlehem Inn." The music is by Thomas Hanache, D.D., and the verse by Lyman R. Bayard. There are six scenes, the Wisemen in their native land, the Roman Patrol and visitor before the inn, the shepherds on the plains, the shepherds inquiring for the Christ Child, the Wise Men inquiring for the Christ Child and the Adoration.

CHRISTMAS CAROLS UNION PRAYER WILL BE SONG WEEK WILL BE OBSERVED HERE

ANAHEIM, Dec. 24.—Continuing tradition begun centuries ago in old England, carolling will be an important part of the celebration of this Christmas-tide and elderly people and shut-ins will hear the sweet strains of the Christmas hymns brought to them through the night. Many churches have planned such groups of songsters and many of the groups will either begin or end the night with supper or breakfast parties. In this manner the Presbyterian and the Evangelical Christian Endeavors will meet at the Highway Tea Gardens for a 6:30 o'clock breakfast followed by a short meeting in which Floyd Stockwell will be the leader. The Presbyterian group will leave its church at 4:30 o'clock and the Evangelical group will leave at 4 o'clock. Both groups will go to the Orange County hospital at 6 o'clock to join in the carolling of all Christian Endeavors of the county.

Midnight carol services will be observed tonight at St. Boniface Catholic church where high mass and special music will begin at midnight and at St. Michael's Episcopal church where the holy Eucharist will be celebrated and the special carol service sung. This will begin at 11:30 o'clock and is open to the public. The Epworth League from the White Temple Methodist Episcopal church will leave the church at 8:30 o'clock for the carol service while the Baptist Young People's Union will leave the Calvary Baptist church shortly after midnight for carolling. They will first enjoy a supper at the church.

Many special music festive have been planned for tomorrow, Christmas Day, in the churches and impressive services will be held all through the holiday.

Two vesper services will be held at 5 o'clock, one in the Salem Evangelical church and one in the First Presbyterian church. The latter will include a candlelight ceremony, an organ prelude, "March of the Magi" by Dunham and the cantata, "The Manger of Bethlehem," by Charles Francis Lane, sung by the choir.

Handel's "Messiah" will be presented Christmas night by a choir of 35 voices at the White Temple. The choir has been rehearsing this for six weeks. Tonight the Grace Lutheran church will hold its Sunday school Christmas party at 7:30 o'clock as will St. Michael's Episcopal church. Numerous white Christmas programs were held in the churches last night, where donations of food and clothing were given for needy families. Among the outstanding performances was the pageant, taken from Van Dyke's "The Other Wiseman" that was given at the White Temple. Mrs. E. A. Collins directed the performance that was attended by a large audience.

Those taking part in the senior pageant are: Carlton Rhinard, parent; Schrock, Gaylord Hicks, Elizabeth Garlock, Irene Marshall, Ruth Smith, Esther Hoar, Irene Schrock, Basil Underwood, Wayne Weber, Ernest Matthes, Ina Gregg, Alta Gregg, Werneth Bickel, Louise Marshall, Hazel Kent, Mae Chilcott, Lonetta Lounsbury, Ernest Matthes, Newell Garlock, Merline Chilcott, Mary Evangeline Meyer. Congregational Having presented their Christmas program last Sunday the First Congregational church will hold but one service tomorrow. This will be a combined Sunday school and church service with special music by the chorus choir and a special sermon for both old and young by the pastor, the Rev. Perry F. Schrock. The Beginners and Primary department of the Sunday school will meet in the bungalow for their own Christmas program.

At the church service, a religious drama will be presented with the choir assisting singing "Silent Night." Evelyn Caudill will sing "Canticle of Noel." Presentation of the drama will be preceded by a beautiful musical program arranged by Mrs. Elizabeth C. Caudill, pianist at the church. After the church service, instrumental solos and numbers by the mixed quartet.

First Evangelical
"The Story of Christmas" cantata prepared under direction of George Watson, director, will be presented Sunday morning by the choir of the First Evangelical church. Miss Melba Wood, organist, will assist. In the evening the children division of the Sunday school will give a program of recitations, songs and exercises.
